JOB WORK

The Two John Thomases.

A young school-miss wao has been told to hunt up the story of the "Two John Thomases" writes to us for the particulars. They were Dr. John Thomas, who graduated at Catherine Hall, Cambridge, in 1713, was rector of St. Vedast, Foster Lane, was consecrated Bishop of Lincoln April 1, 1744, and translated to Satisbury in 1761, and who died July 19, 1766; and Dr. John Thomas, Fellow of Atl Saints College, Oxford, rector of St. Benedict's and St. Peter's, Paul's Wharf, conscerated Bishep of Peterboro, Oct. 4, 1747, translated to Salisbury in 1757, and who died May 1, 1781. The story of the Addiculty in describing them is certainly genuine. Bishop Newton was speaking of the. Thomas, when some one asked, "Which Dr. Thomas do you mean? He answered, "Dr. John Thomas." The questioner replied, "They are both named John." "Well, I mean Dr. Thomas who has a living in the city." "They both have livings in the city." "Dr. Thomas who is Chaptain to the King." "They are both Chaptains to the King." "Dr. Thomas who is known to be a very good preacher." "They are both known to be very good preachers." "Then," said Newton, trumphantly, "the Dr. Thomas who squints."
"They both squint!" was the equallyeffective answer, and Bishop Newton gave it up. Whether they squinted equally bad we cannot say, but the first above-named was one of the most decided specimens ever presented in good society. He was once telling a humorous story and remarked of the hero that "the fellow squinted most indeously." This point was telling, but the Bishop increased the effect by turning his own ugly face around to each person present. with an extra distortion at each time. and remarking, in a subdued undertone "Do you know, I hate your squinting fellows!'-New York Journal of Commerce.

Queen Engabeth's English.

We are reminded, says a writer in Belgravia, of the celebrated letter of Queen Elizabeth to Sir Christopher Hatton, by Stoke Pogis manor. It was invested in his daughter-in-law, the widow of Sir William Hatton, who married Sir E. Coke, and it does not seem that she was happy with the great man, for they lived separately for some time; and, on hearing of the doals of Coke she went at once to claim it will ar brother, Lord Wimbledon; but at Colnebrook she met the physician, who assured her that the great lawyer had improved in health, and she went back to London much disappointed.

There is more than one version of Sir Christopher Hatton's obtaining possession of the Bishop of Ely's horse in Holborn. It is even said that in the first instance he only wished to build a townhouse in the garden, but the Bishop objected, and then he thought that Ely Place itself would suit him better, and hence the well-known letter of the Queen to the Bishop. But probably there was really a gentle hint to his Lordship that the Lord Keeper wanted the house for his town residence on lease, and that was sufficient to induce the prelate to offer it. Queen Elizabeth, then having herself taken a fancy to it, occupied it in place of the Lord Keeper; but a new Bishop of Ely, who considered the see and all its belongings sacred, entered an objection to the arrangement and reobjection to the arrangement, and received the reply which makes anything in the "Complete Letter Writer" read very weak indeed:

THE FAMILY DECIOR.

THE white of an egginto which a piece of a uni about the size of a walnut has ceen steved natil it forms a jelly is a fine remedy for spraine. It should be and over the sprain on a piece of lint and changed as often as it becomes dry.

A MEDICAL journal gives the following simple remedy for relieving hicebugh; " Inflate the luege as fully as possible and mus press firm; ou 'he agitated disphragm. In a few seconds the spasmodic action of the muscles will cease."

A standing antidote for poison by dew, poison oak, ivy, etc., is to take a handful of quicklime, dissolve in water, let it stand half an hour, then paint the poisoned parts with it. Three or four applications will never fail to cure the most aggravated cases.

THE cure for night sweats depends entirely on the cause. Malaria gives rise to it, and then the cure is quinine and arsenic. Debility may cause them. In that case tonics and good, nucritious food should be used. Consumption causes it, and the cure is sulphuric acid, ten to twenty drops in water, an hour atter meals. Oxide of zinc and hydrocyanite extract pills, and, above all, atrophia sulphate, one-two hundredths of one grain to begin with. This must be taken with great care. Dr. Nairn, of London, says he sponges the body with tincture of belladonna, but the drug is too powerful to be used by any one but a physician.

MIRK, says Dr. J. H. Hanaford, contains all of the elements needed to sustain life in the young, and is one of the simplest in use — wholesome, if it is pure. Its purity depends on the health of the producer, and that largely on the quality of the food eaten. If at first pure, it may become otherwise by carelessness. To keep it in tins, made of lead and arsenic, if it become sour, especially, is to endanger the life of the family. If uncovered or in any way exposed to fresh paint, or to filth or poison in any form, it soon becomes affected by absorption, since water and all liquids containing it are grand purifiers of the air, these impurities being retained in the liquids. Never keep milk in a newlypainted pantry—only water, and that to be thrown out.

Corn silk is said to be an efficient and powerful remedy for dropsy, bladder troubles and diseases of the kidneys. The Louisville Medical News gives an account of the medical properties of corn silk, and the cures that have been effected by its use. The way to use it is to take two double-handfuls of fresh corn silk and boil in two gallons of water until but one gallon remains. Add sugar to make a sirup. Drink a tumbler of this thrice daily, and it will relieve dropsy by increasing the flow of the urine most enormously. Other diseases of the bladder and kidneys are benefited by the remedy, which is prompt, efficient and grateful to the stomach. The treatment can be continued for months without danger or inconvenience.

PHISTER FRANK R

DAILY EVENING BULLETIN,

THURSDAY EVENING, DEC. 22, 1881.

H. H. Riddleberger has been elected to the United States Senate by the Virginia Legislature.

THE president has nominated Timothy O. Howe, to be Postmaster General. He is a Grant man and a stalwart of the most pronounced type.

SENATOR WILLIAMS' for the prevention cf the exportation of diseased cattle and the spread of infectious or contagious diseases among domestic animals meets with no opposition in congress and is likely to become a law.

SEVENTEEN of the twenty-seven officers and crew of the steamship Bath City were ricked up by a barque and have arrived at Liverpool. The steamer sprang a leak and sunk off the coast of New Foundland. The crew embarked in two boats one of which capsized drowning four men. The captain and five others subsequently died of cold. The survivors were exposed three days and nights.

There is much opposition in Congress to the restriction of silver coinage and it is very probable that a movement to provide for a still greater issue of silver dollars and certificates based on them, will receive the support of a majority of both houses, but not the two-thirds vote to pass it over the President's veto. A number of silver bills have been prepared for presentation at an early day.

Another convict in the hemp breaking department of the penitentiary this week cut off his hand to escape labor. This makes the eighth man in the prison who has maimed himself within a year. The Courier-Journal says: The miserable wretches work in a cloud of dust, the in-Lalation of which leads to all sorts of lung diseases. The legislative committee appointed to investigate the management of the penitentiary should end their junketing and get to work as soon as possible. Nothing short of inhumanity could cause such inhuman self-mutilation.

A PLAN is suggested at Cincinnati for breaking up the coal ring at that place. The Board of councelmen recommend the organization of a great coal company with two or three million of dollars capital the city to give the company free wharfage, on condition that the price of coal shall at no time exceed fixed figures. The objection urged against the scheme is the possibility that the company may become so powerful that it would at last control the councel and get rid of its restriction. The arguments by which the plan is supported are that "the public has the same right to regulate the price of coal as that of water, or gas."

Ir is thought in Washington, that the sction of the Tennessee Supreme Court in advancing the State debt cases on the calendar will take the debt question out of politics and lead to a speedy settlement of the matters at issue. It is believed by well informed Tennesseeans that the decision of the court will sustain the action of the Democrats in the Legislature who stood up for the public credit of the State. But for this advancement of the cases they would not have been reached for two years and the debt question would have remainad a bitter one during that time. If the action of the Legislature is pronounced valid the great bulk of the people of the State will be content to let the matter drop. Should this be the result, all talk of the Republicanizing of Tennessee will be utter foolishness.

The New Packet.

The new steamer Morning Mail, built by the White Collar line to ply between this city and Cincinnati, reached Maysville yesterday afternoon about 3 o'clock. She is a very handsome craft, of fine model, and when in perfect running order, as she will be in a few days, is expected to equal the speed of the Bostona, which is acknowledged to be the swiftest boat on the upper Ohio. The cabin is large and contains '42 convenient, airy and well-furnished state rooms. The finish of the cabin is exceedingly neat, the state-rooms and all the moldings as well, being of solid walnut. In the ladies' cabin is a well executed oil painting which represents the SAM SMITH raffled a fine music box last river at this place, giving a good view of both Maysville and Aberdeen. In the rear of this cabin is the children's nursery. an apartment also well finished and furnished.

The Morning Mail is 225 feet in length and has 35 feet beam. The engine has 21 inch cylinders,6 feet stroke and works a water wheel with 13½ feet buckets. The wheel THE alarm of fire this morning was itself is 21 feet in diameter. The boilers are eaused by the burning out of a chimney new, three in number, 28 feet long and Captain E. S. Morgan, one of the most popular commanders on the river, will have charge of this boat, while Frank Bryson, Floyd Morgan and Roby McCall, three of the cleverest men living, will be in the office. Col. Gus. Simmons, whom everybody knows and esteems, is the steward. Will. Hanley, an old and wellknown engineer is in charge of the engines. John Henderson and Sam Hamilton, are the pilots and George Korns is mate, and all are good men.

Among those who came by the Morning Mail on her initial trip were Capt. C. M. Halloway, Superintendent of the White Collar Line, Captain John Kyle, Briggs Swift, Azro Van Duzan, Watt Shedd, Miss Cora Young, Miss Nellie Wyles, Miss Hattie Young, Joe Wyles and H. N. Wyles.

The unanimous verdict of the people here is that the new packet is a very handsome boat and is destined to be very popular with shippers and the traveling community. She will leave Cincinnati every morning at seven o'clock, arriving here at two o'clock in the afternoon. On the return trip she will leave this city at three o'clock in the afternoon reaching Cincinnati between 7 and 8 o'clock the same evening, thus making the round trip in one day.

Damage Suit.

Ox Monday the 19th inst., one Samuel Thomas of Higginsport O., appeared before 'Squire John L. Grant of this city, and asked that a warrant be issued for R. H. Harper, H. M. Mulard, M. H. Stollard and C. M. Clatin, charging them with horse stealing. He made affidavit to that effect and a warrant was issued in accordance therewith. Stollard who has for some time been boarding at the European hotel was arrested and taken before 'Squires Grant and Pepper, Wednesday morning for his examining trial, the other parties charged with the offense not being found. And now comes the singular part of the affair Thomas upon whose affidavit the warrant had been issued was in the city when the case was called and was notified of the fact, yet he refused to appear and prosecute, and upon motion' of the county attorney the case was dismissed. As a result of the affair we learn that M. L. Stollard through his attorney, E. L. Worthington has brought suit against Thomas for $2,000 damages, The petition was filed Wednesday after-

A Fight With Snakes—Snow-White, Black. Blue—Two Men Kill Eighty-Seven and See More.

Two farm laborers were sent to cut poles for scaffolding near the foot of Spake's Hill, on the eastern side of Saratoga Lake, where they had a narrow escape from being poisoned from the bites of black snakes. As none of the parties wish to have their names brought to the notice of the public they will be omitted, and their adventures only will be told.

Wishing to get the best timber possible they sought the southern side of the hill at the water's edge, where the poles could be found the straightest and tallest. After felling a number of poles they proceeded to a pile of loose rocks and there sat down to eat their dinner. The spot chosen was very much exposed to the sun, and they were in the act of stepping down from the stones to seek a more shaded spot, and, while doing so, some of the stones rattled from their resting-place and rolled down the bank into the water. Hardly a step had been taken from the stone-heap when the head of a black snake was seen to dart from a crevice between two large flat stones. One of the men at once secured a stout club and stepped up to kill the serpent, while his friend rolled the stone to one side with a pole which he had found at hand. While in the act of striking the snake, and as if by magic, the heads of snakes were seen to dart from every opening in the stone-heap, followed by their bodies, and with heads erect, their eyes flashing, and their tongues darting forth from their extended jaws, they made a horrible sight to behold. In an instant the ground was alive with the crawling, writhing creatures, who, as if by human instinct, surrounded the two men, who were nearly paralyzed with terror, but realizing that something must instantly be done, with uplifted clubs they showered blow after blow upon the now thoroughly-angered snakes, which sent them flying in all directions as they were with every stroke of the club caught up and thrown into the air. One of the unfortunate men in the excitement had not noticed several of the snakes which had crawled in his rear, and not until he felt the cold and slimy body of the reptile around his neck did he realize his horrible position. Shrieking to his companion for assistance he struggled to tear the coil from his neck and did not succeed in doing so until the snake had bitten him once under the right ear. Flinging the body from him and nearly fainting from exhaustion he again took up his club and struck to the right and left, killing a snake at every blow. His companion, while stamping the head of a snake, suddenly felt something crawling up his left leg, underneath his pants, and glancing down he discovered to his horror that a large black snake had taken refuge. Before he could grab it by its tail the animal had bitten him near the knee. With a fling the serpent was flung far into the lake. The snakes, finding the two brave men were one too many for them, after about an hour's battle, and as if by a preconcerted signal, made for the pile of rocks and disappeared. Not, however, before several of them had been killed. The men, finding themselves the victors, proceeded to examine their wounds, and after attending to them proceeded to count the dead snakes, which amounted in number to eighty-seven, the largest of which measured seven feet and eight inches in length.

Among the number was found a blue racer four feet in length, several large spotted adders and one, a large white snake, nearly five feet long, and some portions of his body as large found as a horse's knee. This snake was shown to the writer and was found to be of a snowy-white color, with several small blue spots near its head. Men are going to cover the stone-heap with brush and after surrounding it with men armed with shot-guns, set fire to it and proceeded to exterminate the snakes. So far the two have experienced no bad feeling from the bites. Luckily they had on coarse boots and several langs of the snakes were found imbedded in the thick leather, - Saratogian.
